A novel attempt to raise the wind was made, one day last week, by a fellow who came into the house No. 63 Franklin-st., and informed the inmates that the sejoining house was in danger of being flooded non a great leak in the water-pipe between the two boures, which are separated by the wall only. After endering a supply of water to be drawn off for the day's use, as the water would have to be shut off from the street, he asked the lady of the house for 1), which he lacked to procure new pipe, observing that it could be deducted from the plumber's bill when he had finished the work and let the water on again. He discovered the lady was not so verdantly green as he anticipated, and made his way out of the house. The water has continued to flow without interruption. As he may attempt similar impositions apon others, it is advisable we should put the public upon their guard.

SUIT AGAINST RAILHOAD COMPANY.

George Dedriction, adm'r agt Elic Railroad Company.

To recover damages, a ready referred to under the statute, for the death of Elizabeth H. Dedrickson, wife of plaintiff layined on the railroat, about the units from Jersey City, from which ahe death of Elizabeth H. Dedrickson, wife of plaintiff layined on the railroat, about the units from Jersey City, from which ahe death four days—the principal injury being tracture of the peivis, which, the physician stated is invanibly fatal. Mrs. D and her husband had arriven, within a year from Dublin, where he had been Secretary of a Protestant Orphan Aryinm, enjoying a good salary. They resided at Brooslyn. Mr. D is engused in an establishment as both heavy children and been left in Dublin, with their grandfather. Two they brought with them—on so of them being the youngest chile. Mrs. D. having a slater residing in the upper part of the State, took her two children and wean with them on a visit pened. Among the process of selence was one as to meters the injuried incly was Mrs. D. A witness stated that he had reason to believe she was. She had told him hist she was Mrs. D.; and when he hubshed, after hearing of the accident came to her, she spoke to him as her husband—chining him George, and exclaining, among other things. "Oh, George, must I "die!" Another point of defense was, that the accident having happened in the State of New Jursey, this Court has not jurisdiction over the matter. In reply to the latter, it was said that the Company is chartered by this State; that New York City is its term may, and that the suit is properly brought here. Some testimony was given, portraying scenes incidental, pethags, to such occasions. A young man stated that he came in the train from Dunkirk, and was in the car that Ars. D and her children were. It was about $\frac{1}{2}$ o'clock in the evening, in December. Witness was standing by the stoves, near the forward part of the car; Mrs. D was helding the youngest child in her arms, and the oliest of the two was lying on the coat beside her; they were three or four seast from where he stood, his head was partly toward them, he heard the crash and felt the shock, and was thrown down; when he came to, he fund that he was fast, with the stove upon him, and the youngest child of Mrs. D. pressed in his arms, he had been traved round a little by the concession and felt, does not know hew the child came in his arms, suppose it had been thrown from the mother's arms by the forcy of the shock; called for me one to take the child from him and release him from his situation, he was considerably hurt; the car was much broken; them, are registed from it is, he aw Mrs. D. brought in lying, apparently, on part of a door; they afterward placed cushions made her; saw ber lying on the door, afteward, on the door of the ferry-boat; she appeared to be in great pain.

Mrs. D. raided at Repoking, hur was convered, on arrival here immediately to the Heapital, where she died, as already

Mrs. D. resided at Krookiya, but was convered, on arrival bere immediately to the Hespital, where she died, as already stated.

This suit is brought by Mr D under the statute ellowing the most of kin of a person killed through negligence of another to see for perennary injury the versict in no case to exceed $5000. It is alleged, in the present case, that Mrs. D. had four chileren who are deprived of the care, services, and assistance of their said mother. In their support, mammenance, and education and have suffered dumages thereby &c. Mr. D. has also extered as other suit, on his own behalf, at common law, for the loss of services of his wife.

Mr Eaton, one of the counsel for the Company, in alluding to the case, said that the Company exect themselves to the mitermost in employing capable and shifted persons to conduct the tool, but where there are some hondreds so employed, accelerate will, at times, happen. A difference of three minutes, on this occasion, would have exabled the outer bound train to suppose, from the ordinary period of arrival of the express train, that he would have had ample time to do, but even in attempting it be infringed a rain of the Company. Everything possible was done after the accident to alleviate the suffering of Mrs. D., and the other pamengers that were hirt. The Company has chosen for the accident to alleviate the suffering of Mrs. D., and the other pamengers that were hirt. The Company has demonstrate to the counter form of the Company has demonstrate to the outer pamengers that were hirt. The Court shaped that in this sait the Jury cand only give damages commensurate to the sound permistry loss immediately or directly arrange from the death of the party list had been above. The special law is intended to embrace that point only, and the Jury cannot take into consideration under it the facility of parties in the bereavement as to less of friends. The Jury returned a verdict is favor of planning for $1,80, subject to the opinion of the Court as to pote of planning for $1,80, to the opinion of the Court as to point of jurisdiction.

THURSDAY, March 8-P. M. The Stock-market shows but little change to-day, and closed dull, at a shade lower prices than at the First Board. There is still a great lack of outside speculation; the transactions to a great extent being cor fined to the brokers who are usually operators for their own account. The brokers who operate on commission only complain generally of dull times. It was generally anticipated that with an easy money market the public at large would come into the Stock-market as usual, but the lessons of last year are not yet forgotten, the screness of the old lesses not to any great extent recovered from. In the simply speculative Stocks, we think the purchases of the shorts, to fill contracts, have more influence in sustaining the market than the bellowing of the This remark does not apply to one or two Stocks, in which certain parties are operating, for a rise, but does to the general market for fancies. The changes in Reading, Erie, Cumberland Central, &c . were not material. Canton was firm; Pennsylvania Coal improved 24 P cent.; Delaware fell off to 118;, &c. In Railroad Bonds the sales were not so large as for some days past, and the quotations are without much change. New-York Central, 99]; Illinois Central, 75; Erie, 1875, 84]; Panama, 1072, &c. The shipment of gold by the St. Louis on Saturday promises to be light. On Tuesday next about half a million will go to Boston for the Wednesday steamer. There are some amounts of coin coming in from the West, in the aggregate exceeding the drain for the Terier. After a considerable interval, another bank defales tion has transpired, but the amount is quite moderate, some $25,000.

Mr. Birdsal, of the Sub-Treasury Office, detected, a day or two since, a new and dangerous fraud, which was effected by filing or cutting off about onenalf of the raised rim of the periphery of the double eagle and then remilling the edge. The abstraction of gold was about equal to $1 50. This clipping has been detected before in the smaller gold pieces, but this is the first discovery of double eagles which have been robbed in this way. Mr. Birdsal appears to have a most remarkable instinct in the deter fraudulent coins. He has lately detected some counterfeit silver coins, which were most skillfully executed, and which, with the gold pieces above noticed had passed another Government official without suspicion.

The subject of a dividend by the Cumberland Company has been placed in the hands of a Committee of three Directors to report upon. We see that a bill has been reported in the Legislature to allow the Company to issue bonds. They have a debt of $571,000 falling due this year, for the extension of which they are now negotiating.

The St. Paul Financial Advertiser furnishes us with the following remarkable intelligence in regard to Mesers. Page & Bacon. It is several days ahead to Mesers. Page & Bacon. It is several days ahead of the telegraph:

"Mesers. Page & Bacon, we learn from private sources, will probably close up their business and not rerune at present. A close examination of their affairs has developed the extraordinary fact that they need not have foiled at all if their books had been properly posted—that they had on hand available funds sufficient to meet the run upon them, and did not know it. As it is, their assets exceedineir flabilities have recommended.

"Mesers. Duncen & Sherman, whose conduct in connection with this failure has been severely reproduced as naving acted merely the part of common prudence in the matter." It also gives us the annexed graphic statement of the condition of the Money market of that Paradise of money-lenders: "Money Market.—Devlish tight—as usual—only a little more so. 5 $\psi$ cent. $\psi$ month for short loans, was the exception to the rule last week—it is the rule

These Certificates are distinguished from all other Certificates of Indiana, Wabash and Erie Canal Stocks, by the statement on their face that they are issued on account of Wabash and Eric Canal Bonds. Mr. Patchin lessee of the Buffalo and New-York City Railroad, has made the following report of the business of the road from the date of his lease, on the 21st of May, 1854, to the 1st of January, 1855:

At an adjourned meeting of the Stockholders of the Albion Mining Company, held Feb. 28, 1855, it was received to dissolve the Albion Mining Co. and form two separate organizations, one styled the Portage Albion Mining Co., with a capital of $500,000, divided into 20,000 shares of $25 each. This incorporation will hold all the real estate of the late Albion Company, situated on Portage Lake; and the the other styled the Livingston Mining, with the same capital and number of shares as the Portage Albion. This company will hold all the real estate of the late Albion Company situated in the Eagle River district.
